BREAKFAST SEMINAR AND VENUE

Relight the Flame Breakfast Seminar

07.30 to 10.30

Tuesday 5th November 2020.

We believe it's time to be positive and to focus on getting business moving again. It's time to look to the future and not the past.

To encourage and motivate we've created a very special seminar to motivate and inspire, bringing in three outstanding speakers and choosing an outstanding venue, Minterne House, Minterne Magna, Dorset, DT2 7AU, home of the Churchills and Digbys since 1620. Just click on this link to see the venue: www.minterne.co.uk

Numbers attending the breakfast will be strictly limited when bookings open on Monday, 28th September, with the seminar also streamed live to satisfy what is expected to be high demand.

THE SPEAKERS

We have lined up three nationally known speakers to advise and inspire. Each has achieved high levels of success in their field and will help and motivate during this current business climate. They are, in no particular order:

Declan Curry

A well-known face to many, from his days reporting on the business world on BBC Breakfast. His journalistic career spans over 25 years on television, radio and newspapers, including BBC TV, Radio 5 Live, BBC World Service, Classic FM and LBC.

Declan loves getting to the heart of complex business matters and explaining them in a clear and concise style. He will certainly give his views on how we can get business moving again.

Sir Rob McCabe

A strong business development professional with a grassroots business background and one of the UK's most experienced sales trainers.

Rob made his first million when in his twenties. He went on to be an award-winning and experienced business founder, managing director and serial entrepreneur, with a career in publishing, marketing, conferences and networking.

Rob is also known for his skills in business negotiation, telesales and working with start up businesses.

Expect some great advice from Rob.

Brendan Rendall

One morning Brendan Rendall decided his life was going nowhere, so he give himself a purpose. As well as his teaching career he started raising money for charity.

In 2018 he ran Coast to Coast of Africa 4000km from Namibia to Mozambique raising money for Friends of Mulanje Orphans to build a school hostel. Most recently he ran a marathon every day in July to help save Chester Zoo, His list of achievements goes on and on, simply down to positive thinking. Brendan has also been working with children and adults with autism and other special educational needs for the last ten years.

Brendan will motivate us all and show what we can achieve with positive thinking.
